TB SCOTT LIBRARY

Movies to Books is an awesome new program recommended for kids in grades three to five, beginning this fall at the T. B. Scott Free Library in Merrill. After school on one Wednesday each month, kids are invited to watch a free movie (rated G or PG) that was based on a book. On the following Wednesday from 3:15-4:30 p.m., participants will be engaged in activities related to that book, including games, snacks, crafts, experiments, and brief discussions. Anyone may attend the movie. Kids may come to the activity day without attending the movie, but they should have read at least part of the book. Some copies will be available for check out at the library youth services desk a week before the movie is shown. Movies and activity days are scheduled for October through December. October 7, November 11, and December 9 will be movie days. October 14, November 18, and December 16 will be activity days. October's activity day will feature activities related to the book Hoot by Carl Hiaasen. November will feature Mrs. Frisby and the Rats of NIMH by Robert O'Brien and December will feature A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens. Call the library at 715-536-7191 for more information and to sign up. Pre-registration is appreciated, but not required.
